Dear Denise:

Thank you for your very encouraging letter. I would like very much for you to provide me with an address of a local tall club around Indianapolis. I do definitely think it would help my morale to be around some people more my height. To be honest with you, it would probably seem very strange.

I read your "Special Convention Issue" from cover to cover and it was very obvious that you all must have had a real blast at the convention. I would love to come to your next one. I noticed the next convention is to be in Minnesota. I just came back from there. I did a little public relations work for the Marriott Hotel there in Bloomington.

You need not worry about my being exploited in any embarrassing way. In fact, I'll bet you could probably say I'm being a bit too careful. Maybe it's better to be safe than sorry. I've got an agent now that I am sure is working for my best interests.

I have spoken to Don Koehler in Chicago. He sounded like he has a great personality, but I think he might be a little tired of all the publicity he has received. At least that's the way it sounded to me.

My home address is listed below if you want to send me the address of that club in Indy. I also noticed an ad for Alder's Big & Tall Store in your Special Issue. They have shoes that would fit me. Could you see if you can get me a catalog from them? I would like to see about getting some shoes. Since I wear a 16 EEE, it's hard to find them to fit me just any place. I have been ordering my shoes from the King Size Co. in Brockton, Mass.; but they don't have too many different styles to choose from. I'm hoping this company might. I would really appreciate it if you could get me a catalog if they have any. By the way, I noticed that The King Size Co. provided a prize for the winner of the "Mr. Tall International" contest.

Once again, THANK YOU for your letter and club newspaper. I've received so many kind cards and letters that I'm beginning to think I'll never get them all answered.

Sincerely,

Sandy Allen
